

Tresoar Fellow

Tresoar and the Friends of Tresoar stimulate a new generation of researchers studying Frisian history, literature or culture. Commonly they have founded the Tresoar Fellowship. Every year a stipend is made available for a young academic from the Netherlands or abroad.

This allows an innovative research project of up to three months to be supported. All interested parties for the 2019 call can submit a proposal now.

Requirements

- The Tresoar Fellow is a graduated academic belonging to a new generation of researchers (graduated after 1 January 2008).
- The Fellow is expected to do innovative research on a (sub) subject from one of the main themes of Tresoar (see below) and actively using of the Tresoar collection.
- The Fellow gives a public lecture.
- The Fellow publishes an article about the results of the research in one of the three Frisian scientific journals: It Beaken, Us Wurk or De Vrije Fries.

Main themes

Tresoar develops its collection from a number of main themes.

1. Frisian history
2. Frisian literature
3. Frisian culture

The subject of the Fellow matches one of the above themes. Tresoar and the Friends of Tresoar can express a preference for one of the themes.

Stipend

Tresoar and the Friends of Tresoar provide travel and accommodation expenses and contributes to the salary costs of the selected Fellow. The total amount that the Fellow can claim is a maximum of € 10,000.

Proposal

Candidates for the Fellow are asked to submit their own proposal, in which the relevance for one of the main themes must be clearly substantiated. A commission composed by both financiers will make a choice from the submitted proposals.

Compensation and facilities

Proposals for the Tresoar Fellow 2019 can be submitted until 1 April 2019.

The total amount of the stipend is a maximum of € 10,000 (including travel and accommodation costs).

- The stipend is provided to the candidate personally.
- The allowance can be paid to both the Fellow and his / her employer.
- Candidates of all disciplines and nationalities are welcome to apply.

- Tresoar provides flexible workspace during normal office hours and offers research facilities in the archives.
- A supervisor / contact person is appointed from Tresoar.

The proposal

Proposals may be made in Frisian, Dutch or English and must be sent by mail to info@tresoar.nl before 1 April 2019

The proposal contains:

- a curriculum vitae of the applicant
- a scientifically based proposal with a size of between 1,000 and -1,500 words
- a list of relevant publications from the applicant
- a start and end date for the proposed study and a timeline
- a financial substantiation
- one reference from the academic world.

When planning the project, the applicant must consider the following expectations regarding the Tresoar Fellow:

- The research results at least in the submission of an article in one of the Frisian scientific journals, namely It Beaken, Us Wurk or De Vrije Fries
- The Fellow is expected to take care of this and any other publications of the research, where mentioning Tresoar Fellowship is to be expected.
- The Tresoar Fellow is expected to give a public lecture in Tresoar.
